

COMMUNITY SCIENCE DAY

SATURDAY, MAY 10 | 11 A.M.-3 P.M.

Step behind the scenes and into the past, present, and future of our museum's work.

Celebrating the National Science Foundation's 75th anniversary, this backstage event will showcase the STEM learning, professional development, and scientific research that has been made possible because of the agency's critical support. Museum researchers and youth staff will provide hands-on STEM experiences highlighting the science we've done — and will continue to do — because of the NSF.

EVENT FEATURES

Interactive STEM
learning activities

Conversations with community organizations

Science Live theater performances

Attend for Free!

Use the QR Code or Link to register to receive the following:

- FREE General Admission on the Event Day
- $10 Food Voucher for everyone in your group
- Access to a FREE Shuttle to the Museum and back on the event day,

Register Here:

<https://bit.ly/4iytqRh>

More information about the event can be found at smm.org/events.
Have questions? Contact Kaiah Goodman (kgoodman@smm.org)